“ Dear Sydney, So heartbroken to hear of your mom's passing. She was a beautiful, loving person with a smile that would light up a room. What a strong woman she was. Thinking of you and your sisters. May your memories bring you peace.

“ Dear Sydney, Mason and Blair,

I had the pleasure of meeting your Mom when I joined ESP in November 2001. Working with and eventually for your Mom was one of the highest pleasures of my life. Your Mom was one of the smartest people I knew about the things that most matter (taking care of others). Through a 23 year career I was supposed to be the leader and teacher, and I became the student because your Mom saw things in me that I never saw in myself. On June 30, 2013 I retired from full time work from ESP with the knowledge that I might never see your Mom again. I knew your Mom well enough to know she was an amazing woman and a serious fighter, traits I so admired. Before I retired with the help of Erika Saldutti that got me the perfect photo of your Mom I hired the artist Peter Max (the guy that painted all the firefighters pictures that died on 9/11/2001 and commissioned him to paint your Mom. I have asked why by many people why I would do something like that. My answer has always been the same, I did it because I loved your Mom like my younger sister and learned so much from her that I wanted her kids to have something that they could see and make them smile, the same way she made me smile each time I saw her. Your Mom fought the good fight, she stayed as long as she could and did not quit. I have visited your FB pages and can see that each of you are strong young people with long successful lives ahead of you. In all likelihood I will see your Mom again before each of you when my life ends on this earth, it will be a great reunion of friends. She will have a chance to show me around heaven when I get there. In the meantime I stand believing that she looks in on you from time to time and believe you will know when she is there. Your Mom was my boss, my mentor and my friend and I will miss her. So my prayer for you is Phillipians 4:7 And the peace of God, which surpasses all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through the knowledge of Christ Jesus. Remember well that the death of the body is the day of birth for eternity.

“ Carol:

I am so glad we were able to spend some time together an evening in August. Your house was bubbling with happy friends and family and spending time talking with you was a blessing to me. You could feel love filled the house that night! - Carol, as we discussed that night, I was blessed to meet you in June 2002 when I began to work at ESP. We had some wonderful times there as ESP grew! I especially remember you bringing Sydney, Mason and Blair to the office. They were so young and so cute! Many times you also brought one of your friendly dogs with you. It is very appropriate that donations in your memory be made to the SPCA! - Sydney, Mason and Blair: You have all developed into talented young adults. I will be sending prayers to God asking him to give you comfort as you travel through the loss of your Mother. As you know, Carol was a dynamic and creative woman who loved you all very much! Her earthly pain has now ended and I am sure she will be watching over you with love! - Judy Fraser

“ Carol thank you for being my friend! You could always make me smile and laugh. For so long we talked about this beast inside of you, I don't know many people who would handle it like you did. You truly were a champ! So many things you said over the years, taught me so many things. I will keep them tucked away and use them often. Thank you for your friendship, thank you for the laughs and thank you for now being the guardian angel that so many of us could use. So typical of you to step up and handle it. Rest In Peace you badass chick, live large amongst those clouds!

“ My Dearest Carol,
Where do I begin with the memories - they are endless. Endless talks about our love for our babies, our puppies, sharing great books, finding a great dump bag with a cell phone holder:), coaching soccer for our girls, struggling as stay at home moms and as working moms, long days at the beach - Tak and Deal, getting the best deals at TJ Maxx and Marshalls, Christmas 2004, our 5:15 calls over the last year and a half that I will miss more than you know.
You have touched more lives than you could ever imagine. Your generosity, your compassion, and your unending fight to live will change how I look at life forever. I struggle with the loss of you. I am selfish to wish you were still here and at peace knowing you are no longer in pain. I am so very happy to know you are now surrounded by Bo, Regina Gallina, my dear Anthony, Coco and so many others you loved.
Rest in peace my treasured friend, please know I will keep that promise I made to you to continue to love, support and protect Sydney, Mason and Blair forever. xoxo
So much love to you, Erika
