“ As I sit here thinking about Anita, King Solomon's Ecclesiastes 3:1 comes to mind/heart: "To everything, there is a season and a time to every purpose under heaven." As the Lord would have it, my season of friendship with Anita started our junior and senior years at Monmouth Regional High School. I consider it a blessing that our friendship included getting to know her parents and sisters, being welcomed in their home. I consider it a blessing that our friendship allowed me to prepare myself for college, graduate school, and eventually becoming a college English, Education, and Religion professor, now retired.

My friendship with Anita is one I've often thought about over the years, and I'm truly thankful to my Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, for the times we spent together. One experience I hold close to my heart is the time when Anita and I attended Ivy's church in Matawan. Ivy, to our surprise, sang a solo, piano played by Mrs. Mance, Ivy's mother. The song was, "If Anybody Asks You Where I'm Going---Goin' Up Yonder." That song blesses me every time I hear it! I see my friend, Anita, sitting next to me and our friend, Ivy, ministering in song a message of Eternity! I thank God for.....Seasons of Friendship! I thank God for precious memories, too numerous to share, of my friend, Anita!

“ Anita Loretta Sims met in elementary school (Swimming River), and soon thereafter became life-long friends. In high school we even went on double dates, depending on who could get the keys to the family car on a given night. A close knit circle of kindred spirits of color naturally coalesced at MRHS and we officially became “The Cousins”. We were a unit, and as small group of minority students in a predominantly white high school, we looked out for, and took good care of one another. Quite the unsuspecting menagerie (diverse in every way imaginable) we were a tremendous source of unconditional care and encouragement for one another. No date for the Prom? No problem! Two of us will attend with each other to ensure our unspoken moto was assured: “NO COUSIN LEFT BEHIND!” Our individual career interests and educational pursuits took all in different geographical directions, Anita attended Rider College (a private liberal arts institution) while I relocated to North Carolina to attend an HBCU, at my foster Mom’s urging. Others left for Morgan, Morehouse, some of us even studied abroad, reconnecting like Homing Pigeons, reconnecting during annual holiday visits, or class reunions. I remained intentional in maintaining a relationship with “COUSIN NEET” and her parents, as they had become my extended family of choice, visiting their home fairly recently, while in town for a celebration of life. Unfortunately, a series of tragic life events undermined Anita’s capacity to maintain the intense rigor associated with the ever-growing demands of her hugely successful career. She and her family agreed that she needed to simply CHILL, at which time she returned to Tinton Falls. Her very recent health event, and subsequent passing shortly thereafter, is still shocking and very surreal, leaving family and friends simply stunned (like deer in the headlights). I am no stranger to the power of heartfelt prayer, and am covering the Sims Family in prayers for peace, healing and comfort during this inconceivable challenge. Sincere thanks to those who have already extended loving kindness, through your words, and your generous deeds. You will no doubt have the same loving kindness find its way back to you. LOVE & LIGHT to all . . .
