

Carol Ann Peraggine

August 27, 1947 - December 16, 2025

Carol Ann Peraggine (formerly McFadden), 78, of New Jersey, passed away on December 16, 2025.

Born on Staten Island, New York, Carol was the daughter of Louis and Benedetta Peraggine. She grew up on Staten Island, where she laid the foundation for a life centered on caring for others. She earned her degree in nursing and became a Registered Nurse, a profession that reflected her compassion and dedication to helping people. Above all, Carol was a devoted mother, a role she cherished throughout her life.

In 1981, Carol moved to New Jersey, where she raised her family and built a home filled with warmth, tradition, and love. She was a loving and devoted mother, known for her strong will and occasional stubbornness—qualities that often came from a place of deep care and conviction.

Carol had many passions. She loved to cook and bake, and her home was often the center of big family meals and memorable holiday gatherings. She enjoyed sewing and cross-stitching, took comfort in her crystals and angels, and was a faithful Catholic. Christmas held a special place in her heart, accompanied by the music and films she adored, especially Bing Crosby, Fred Astaire, and Ginger Rogers.

She is survived by her children, Daniel, Jeffrey, and Shannon McFadden; her grandchildren, Abigail and Elizabeth McFadden and Caleb and Jacob Alfano; and her siblings, Judy Terrell and Anthony Peraggine. She was preceded in death by her parents, Louis and Benedetta Peraggine.

Carol will be remembered most for the love she poured into her family, the traditions she created, and the joy she brought to gatherings that will live on in memory.
