“ I was deeply saddened to hear about Ed's passing. I worked with Ed for several years while he was at Calgon. What a great guy who was the consummate salesman who could always tell a good story and make you laugh during the best and roughest of times. More importantly he had a huge heart inside that big tough looking exterior. I considered him a good friend and miss him. I retold several of his stories or used his quotes many times over the years and will continue to do so into the future. May legions of angels sing thee to thy rest my friend. And may God comfort your family during this time of great loss.
