“ It's the way of military families that you move in and out of each others' spheres, and then back in again ... somehow Grams could keep all of our comings and goings straight. She could pick up the conversation right where we left off. That is a true gift - and our world is a better place for having had her example of caring and genuine interest. God blessed all of you with her beautiful, full life ... and He blesses us still with you, her descendants, made in that same mold.
