“ Missing you everyday, big bro. I still can't believe you're gone. You were such a wonderful and uplifting person to be around. I will always cherish the memories I have with you, from you and Nick sneaking me into the disco in Dominican Republic to you showing my friends and I around the city to having margaritas with your family in your backyard. I'm so upset that these memories had to be cut short here, but I will never forget the fun times we had together. You took me under your wing as a little sister since that trip to Dominican Republic and I truly appreciate that. You were always someone I looked up to and I will continue to look up to you, old man.

“ First I'd like to say how sorry I am for not being able to attend his service. If it was at all possible I would be there.

i sat right next to Shawnn... elbow to elbow, for 5+ years at Harrison and Star. We shared a lot of eye rolls due to the idiocy around us. He taught me a lot about photoshop. Every time I silhouette i think about him.

Our boss called him the unofficial official greeter of H&S. He was everyone's first friend there. The first day i was there he was playing yellowman and jay z and we bonded over that. He called me doogles once at random, and i told him that the only other person to ever call me that was my dad. he only called me doogles after that... so i called him shawnnels...

He was one of those rare people who would light up a room, that you wanted to know, and could never forget... He would always give you attitude if you asked for something, but would always be there in the end to help.

In Jewish tradition the day before your wedding your supposed to have a helper... someone to follow you around and take care of you... the thought being that your head is in the clouds and you might do something careless and get hurt... the day before my wedding i told Shawnn about that and later that i needed a tie for my suit... he immediately threw down his stylus, got up from his desk, and said, "we are going shopping" that he would be my guide... and on the way to the store he actually stopped me from walking in front of a speeding cab.

I will always remember him fondly. His smile, his honesty, his attitude, his complete disdain for idiocy.

May his memory be for a blessing.

My deepest Condolences, Love and respect to his family.
